Dear Susie Vanderlip,

Your inspirational presentation, Legacy of Hope, left a resounding powerful message with the students at Midwestern State University, especially with our athletes. Not only did you grasp real life situations, but also left these young minds with a plan to help them mature. Most speakers today flood our students with facts and information that honestly bores them consequently not impacting their next choices.

Unfortunately one of our players was involved in an automobile accident just before you arrived on our campus. You helped them understand how their choices can change lives, their own, their friends and total strangers. I believe your theatrical performance coupled with your unscripted message will make an impact on our campus in the future. It did for me!

Thank you for letting your life experience propel your message to our students. I highly recommend your program to middle school to college age students, especially NCAA athletes.

Respectfully,

Bill Maskill
